

Horme's Hadoop extensions take care of figuring out input splits and converting input splits to key/value pairs for consumption by mappers